40 Years of Service

Peninsula Medical Center - History & Future

Celebrating 40 Years of the Upper Peninsula Medical Center

On March 15, 1965, 17 Marquette physicians met to formulate plans to purchase land and construct an office building in which they could practice medicine and provide the people of Marquette with convenient and quality medical care.

They purchased 5.5 acres of land on Fair Avenue and constructed a 21,000 square foot building, the Marquette Medical Center, which opened on January 21, 1966.

The founding physicians created a unique corporation where physicians with private practices could purchase equal stock ownership in the Medical Center. Nineteen stockholder physicians, representing 10 medical specialties, launched the corporation, and within 10 months, that number increased to 30. A staff of 50 supported the physician offices and the facility. Those early pioneers included Marquette Internal Medicine Associates, Marquette Urology Group, Upper Peninsula Rehabilitation Medicine Associates, Orthopaedic Surgery Associates and Eye Associates of Marquette. Judge Ed Quinnell served as legal advisor to the original Board of Directors, who were Dr. Bolitho, Dr. Eugene Elzinga, Dr. Don Conley, Dr. Matthew Bennett and Dr. Charles Wright.

Three years later, in October 1969, the popularity of the Marquette Medical-Dental Center prompted a 44,000-square-foot expansion. Then again, in 1978, 1985 and 1994, additional expansions were constructed, totaling 236,000 square feet. By 1997, support staff had grown to 540.

Just this month, the newest, three-story expansion brings the total area of the Upper Peninsula Medical Center to 317,000 square feet on 20 acres. A number of current offices are relocating to the new space, including Great Lakes Podiatry, Orthopaedic Associates, OB-GYN Associates and U.P. Sports Medicine. Additional space is available as well.

Today, Peninsula Medical Center has 107 stockholders, 132 physicians and 646 support staff, offering more than 50 medical specialties. The center houses the largest concentration of primary care doctors in the U.P.

More than a half-million patients visit Peninsula Medical Center each year. The annual payroll is more than $30 million and its economic contribution to the community is greater than $40 million. The center is the City of Marquette's largest private tax payer.

Dr. Wright credits the success of the Medical Center to the fact that it's easy for patients and referring doctors to have so many specialties in one location and that all Peninsula Medical physicians have an equal share and equal vote in its operation. He also notes the strong leadership of the center's executive directors—only four in 40 years: Duane Steen, Bill LaBelle, Judy Boyle and current director Hugh Miller.

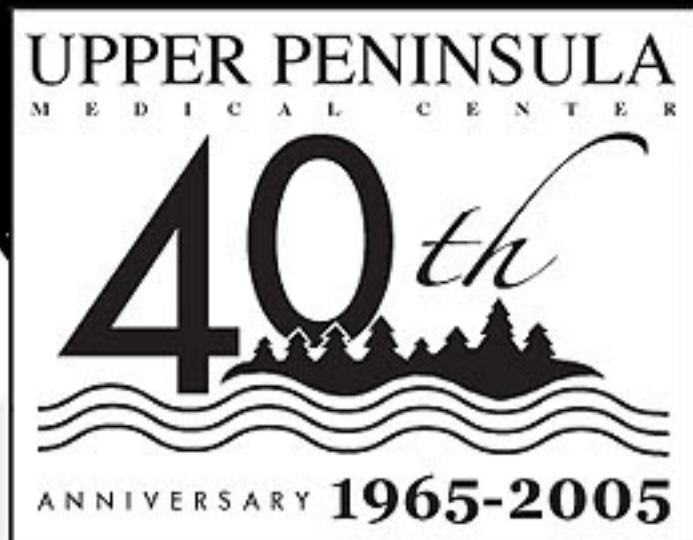

All of this from a dream of a small group of physicians hoping to improve health care in our region.

Surgical Associates of Marquette, P.C. Suite 230

Year office opened in Peninsula Medical Center: 1972

Surgical Associates of Marquette, P.C. has been a part of the Peninsula Medical Center since 1972. The founders of Surgical Associates, Dr. Matthew Bennett and Dr. Thomas Mudge, were part of the original group that occupied the Marquette Medical/Dental Center in 1966 and joined together to form Surgical Associates of Marquette in 1972 along with Dr. Eric Lincke and Dr. James Keplinger.

In the mid to late 1970s, Surgical Associates of Marquette was instrumental in recruiting other surgical specialties to Marquette, including Dr. Alan Hunter for cardiovascular surgery and Dr. Constance Arnold for plastic and reconstructive surgery. Over the years, "Surgical Suite" has been the temporary home of several surgical specialties offering services in the Marquette area. Currently, "Surgical Suite" houses five Board Certified General Surgeons and two Board Certified Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons. The General Surgeons perform surgery at Marquette General Hospital, Bell Hospital and Munising Memorial Hospital on a regular basis. They are also spearheading the development of the Trauma Program at Marquette General Hospital. The Plastic Surgeons perform surgery at Marquette General Hospital, the U.P. Surgery Center, and Bell Hospital. They also perform office procedures on a regular basis.

Our general surgeons are: John P. Koskinski, M.D., Larry S. Lewis, M.D., Joseph C. Jameson, M.D., Patrick P. Bulinski, M.D., Ryan D. Edwards, M.D.; and our plastic and reconstructive surgeons are: Constance G. Arnold, M.D. and Mark S. Geissler, M.D.

And we have added an additional office, in Negaunee.

Our plans for the future: We plan to continue to provide the same high quality services that the community has come to expect from our organization.

Some of our favorite moments from the history of our office/organization: Cynthia Nyquist, RN, MSN, CHPN, was determined to develop a program that would meet all of the needs of a patient and family facing the challenges of a Life Limiting Diagnosis. Cindy's dream was to provide a way to help make life "a little better" for the patient and family during a time of potential stresses and challenges. She convinced others to join her in this endeavor of empowering patients and families (through the provision of education, resources, and support) to live life the way each individual chooses with the circumstances they have been dealt. In 1990, when the physicians extended the invitation to UPHHH&PD to move into the Peninsula Medical Center, the invitation was accepted with great pleasure. We have been honored to be a small part of the tremendous growth realized by the Peninsula Medical Center over the past forty years.

Year office opened in Peninsula Medical Center: 1992

Number of employees: 8

What we do: We evaluate and treat allergic and asthmatic disorders.

What makes our office/organization a special place: We have friendly and experienced personnel who enjoy what they do. Most of our staff have been here for more than 10 years. We strive to provide a high standard of care and service.

How our office has changed and grown over the years: We implemented Electronic Medical Records in November 2003. This has enabled us to enhance the delivery of allergy services.

Our plans for the future: In spring 2006, we hope to harness the Internet in order to improve patient communication, patient privacy and office efficiency. We also hope to move into a new allergy suite within 3 years in order to accommodate a modern 21st Century allergy practice.

U.P. Medical Management Suite 348

Year office opened in Peninsula Medical Center: 1993

Number of employees: 9

What we do: Medical billing and accounts receivable management for physicians and hospice

What makes our office a special place: We have a very close knit team of dedicated employees that truly care about the work we do. We all enjoy helping physicians and their patients solve their insurance and billing issues. We feel great satisfaction when we can help solve a problem and know that we've made a difference.

How our office has changed and grown over the past years: Our company has changed a lot over the last several years with some of the new technology that's now available. As an example, the Internet has made a huge positive impact on our company. We are now able to track insurance claims and find out about patient insurance eligibility online. Many times we can find answers to questions in minutes that in the past would have taken several weeks to get answers to. When we first opened our office 12 years ago we could not have imagined doing some of the things we are able to do now.

Year office opened in Peninsula Medical Center: 1998

Number of employees: We are currently the only office in the U.P. to feature two full-time fully certified audiologists.

What we do: We are a full-line private practice audiology and dispensing clinic offering complete hearing and hearing aid services. We evaluate, assess, treat, and prevent hearing loss for patients ages three years and older. Services include: comprehensive diagnostic evaluations; gentle and painless cerumen (earwax) removal; tinnitus (ear ringing) management; hearing aid prescriptions, fitting, adjustments, repairs, batteries and accessories; TV Ears™ and other assistive listening devices; custom-fit hearing protection; aural (re)habilitation; various community educational seminars and public lectures.

What makes our office a special place: The personal warmth and individual genuine interest our patients receive; the thorough audiologic evaluations they undergo; the meticulous attention given to their hearing needs; the unhurried time to provide perfection; and our drive in striving to continue bringing innovative technology to the U.P. In addition, we are currently one of two Beta test sites for a unique new hearing device developed to help save the hearing of our military personnel.

How our office has changed and grown over the years: Rapid-paced increases in every-expanding product technology has advanced our ability to more effectively meet the needs of patients.

Our plans for the future: Plans for major expansion in the near future are presently being finalized.

Some of our favorite moments from the history of our office: When we successfully help patients whom other hearing care professionals have given up on: A war-wound victim with multiple structural damage; A young girl whose hearing was injured in a horrific auto accident;

Etc: We are proud to have founded The Century Club, a program in which free hearing aids are presented as a birthday gift to patients celebrating their 100th birthday or more.

Jennifer Tucker, Tara Laase, Missing: Dr. Mansour Miky

Pyramidal Rehab Suite 204

Year office opened in Peninsula Medical Center: Pyramidal Rehab opened in August of 2004 and currently consists of three employees. Dr. Mansour Miky has multiple specialties. As a physical medicine and rehabilitation physician he treats arthritis, musculoskeletal disorder, neuropathy, and performs EMG and nerve conduction studies. As an occupational medicine physician, he treats work-related injuries such as carpal tunnel syndrome, chemical sensitivity, old building syndrome, and performs back-to-work exams, replacement exams, and workman's compensation evaluations. As a pain management specialist, he treats shingles, sciatica, neck pain, back pain, and joint pain. We take pride in providing patients with non-operative pain management in the form of nerve block, trigger point, and steroid injections, which can be used on patients who cannot tolerate pain medication or have ulcers. At Pyramidal Rehab, we believe "Prevention is better than cure."

In the past ten months, our services have expanded to provide care to six locations throughout the U.P., including Marquette, Sawyer, Munising, Manistique, Escanaba, and Newberry. Our future goals consist of furthering our care by providing the community with educational opportunities necessary to fully understand and treat their symptoms and diseases. Our website will be available soon for public and patient access.
